Time spent in an English-speaking country: X

Age: 21

Semester: 6

Faculty: Human Sciences

Topic: Studying philosophy can lead you to a happier and more peaceful existence.

Original Text:

Title: Importance of Philosophy

Many people live their lives without purpose. Philosophy studies the meaning of exsistonce; which is the most fundamental thing to human being. Studying philosophy can lead to a happier life and more peaceful existance, this could be for some reasons:

One reason is that as known that philosophy studies the nature of existance, which is the whole world and if human being lived without purpose then he'll feel that the whole world is in some way having purpose to be more than him or that he is useless.

In other reason is that if the person had found the reason why he had been created then he will devote his life to accomplish that purpose and he will live a calm life because there are many people who lack purpose and hope whom they end-up committing suicide as well as many rich people.

Finally, philosophy teaches mental lows, which can benefit some specialties such as literature, law, etc.

To conclude, studying philosophy can have a positive impact on one's reality and life leading him to a purposeful and hopeful existance.